UNDERSTANDING CHILD SEXUAL ABUSE

13th July 2011 - 14th July 2011

Venue: The Forest Centre, Station Road, Marston Moretaine, Bedfordshire, England, MK43 0PR

Sexual Violence, Exploitation and Abuse directed towards children remain one of the public's greatest anxieties in relation to children's welfare. It is also a source of great uncertainty and confusion for many professionals.

This two day workshop is designed for professionals working to safeguard children and aims to explain and examine the causes of and risk factors for child sexual abuse and consider potential interventions in this complex and challenging area.

By the end of this workshop participants will:

- Have a working definition of Child Sexual Abuse, Sexual Violence and Exploitation
- Have an Overview of the relevant legislation
- Understand the aetiology of child sexual abuse
- Be able to recognise and describe risk factors and make informed decisions regarding intervention

Course Presented by:

Allied Child Protection Consultants Ltd.

Allied Child Protection Consultants Ltd. has been providing training and consultancy services since 1997 to social care organisations to ensure best practice is gained within the services they provide whilst making efficient use of their resources.

We achieve this by offering effective multi-agency training to ensure best practice within social care organisations, empowering staff to engage with service users in a sensitive professional approach to ensure the best outcomes for children and young people.

Course Presenters:

Alec Love is the Managing Director and founder of Allied Child Protection Consultants Ltd (ACPCLtd) He comes from a police child protection background and was involved in training at the Metropolitan Police Detective Training School with specific responsibility for multi agency working under the Children Act 1989. He spent six years managing a police child protection team involving the multi-agency approach to safeguarding children prior to his retirement in 1997. On retirement he continued to work as an independent trainer and consultant within the field of Safeguarding Children. Alec has been an associate trainer with the NSPCC for 14 years and currently sits on a National Working Party on Child Protection and Disability which ensures his training is all inclusive with regards to the needs of all children and young people.

Craig Barlow is a registered, qualified social worker with 23 years experience in working with children and families and working with aggression, violence and sexually harmful behaviour and abuse.

He has conducted risk assessments relating to sexual and non-sexual violence for a number of organisations in the public and voluntary sectors throughout the UK. He also works as an independent trainer and consultant to Health and Social Services, Police Authorities and the National Policing Improvement Agency (N.P.I.A).
